MYSTERY VEIL LIFTED IN 'MONK' EASTMAN CASE

Police Believe Gunman Was Killed by His Former Associates.

(By the Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—The veil of mystery hitherto surrounding the murder of "Monk" Eastman, former notorious gangster, who was supposed to have "gone straight" after being decorated for heroism on the battle fields of France, was partly lifted early today with a definite announcement by the police that he was slain in a "gang fight" on his old east side stamping grounds last Sunday. The police further claim that they have trailed his murderer through the devious, winding streets of the underworld and that they expect to make an early arrest.

Two waiters and a cashier who were questioned all night at headquarters are said by police to have given details of the feud and to have furnished the name of the gangster's assassin.

Assistant District Attorney Henniss declared that it was established that "Monk" was shot to death in a running fight which started in an all night cafe. The police have reason to believe, they said, that some of "Monk's" old pals who had turned against him had cornered him in the cafe, and in the general free for all fight that followed—rivaling the dreaded gang feuds of by gone years on lower Third and Fourth avenues—"Monk" had been driven into the street and shot down with five bullets in his body.

The police investigation has disclosed, it was said, that "Monk" recently had not been living "on the square," as he had promised Governor Smith when his citizenship rights were restored after the world war. He is reported to have been employed as a "bouncer" in an east side gambling house and to have been involved in illegal liquor and drug traffic. In some of these transactions the police believe, "Monk" incurred the enmity of some of his former associates in the underworld and he paid the penalty, the same deadly penalty "Monk" himself had ordered inflicted in gang wars during the last twenty years.

COLORADO FOR CORN AND HOGS EVIDENCE SHOWS

(By the Associated Press.)

DENVER, Colo., Dec. 28.—Development of Colorado as a corn raising and hog breeding state will be emphasized at the Western Stock show to be held here January 15 to 22. A novelty in this section will be a nightly parade of automobiles in connection with the horse show of the exposition.

The Colorado corn exhibit is expected to attract attention because 1920 was the first year in which the state produced more corn than it could use. Up to two years ago it was contended that corn could not be raised successfully in Colorado because the growing season was too short, the climate too dry and the nights too cool. The corn produced in the state is a new variety which is largely drought resistant and matures in ninety days.

It is the hope of the management of the show that more corn will be planted each year because, they say, that means the raising of more hogs. To encourage the latter they have, for the first time at this show, provided a special building for the exhibition of pure bred hogs. The new pavilion is of brick and tile, cost $20,000 and contains a huge fireplace for log burning, around which will be constructed a sales ring for auctions.

MINERAL BELT RAILWAY OFFICES LEAVE MIAMI

(By the Associated Press.)

Miami, Dec. 28.—Announcement was made today by J. A. Frates, vice-president and general manager of the Miami Mineral Belt Railway, that, effective on or before January 15, the general offices of the company would be moved to Oklahoma City.

CAPTAIN D'ANNUNZIO REPORTED WOUNDED

(By the Associated Press.)

TRIESTE, Dec. 28.—Reports that Captain D'Annunzio, the Italian insurgent leader at Fiume, had been wounded in recent fighting between his Legionnaires and the regular troops, was received here today. No details were given, however.

Later advices said that D'Annunzio was struck in the head by a piece of shell while conversing in the palace, but that the wound was slight.

DEMOCRATS TO REORGANIZE STATE

Action of State Central Committee Indicates Change.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 28.—Virtual reorganization of the democrat party in Oklahoma is seen by political observers today in the action of the democratic state central committee taken here yesterday, by which all party bodies in the state would be dispensed with and power centralized in one agency. It is thought probable by party leaders that even the campaign committees of the past will be eliminated.

At the meeting the democrats named a committee composed of A. A. McDonald of Hugo, George L. Brown of Kingfisher and H. L. Fogg of El Reno, to frame plans for reorganization. This committee is to draw up a tentative draft after the adjournment of the state legislature which is expected to be submitted at a meeting of the state central committee to be called for that purpose in July.

The committee yesterday also named a "permanent lobby" of eight members to confer with house and senate members in caucus and individually during the coming session of the legislature.

Case Against Ada Night Watch Con- tinued Until Jan. 4

The preliminary hearing in the assault case against Frank Palmore was continued to January 4 yesterday on the request of the county attorney who will examine the evidence for the state during the interim.

Palmore is a nightwatch on the Ada police force and was arrested Sunday night following a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon which he is alleged to have committed to the person of C. O. Dodd a few hours before.

It was erroneously stated in the News yesterday that the alleged assault was committed Friday night and that the victim of the assault was Bert Greer.

It is stated that Officers Palmore and Lillard were coming from North Ada with a prisoner named Johnson, and that C. O. Dodd and Walter Dodd undertook to get at Johnson and hit him while he was in the custody of the officers. The officers insist that the only means of getting rid of C. O. Dodd was to hit him and Palmore struck him with his gun.

Since bringing the charge of assault against Palmore both the Dodd boys have been arrested for their alleged acts of Sunday night, and will be tried on a threefold charge of assault on Johnson, interference with an officer in the discharge of duty and disturbing the peace. Their cases will be tried before Mayor Kitchens at 4 p. m. today.

No charge has been brought against Palmore for his alleged assault on Bert Greer at the door of the city jail Friday night. It is said that the extent of Greer's injuries was never determined, as he escaped from the jail before his wounds could be examined.

Ada Is Several Years Behind With Her Building Program

Practically All of the Hindrances Having Been Removed, Other Cities of the State
Have Resumed Their Natural Growth Which Was Temporarily Retarded
During the War.

Ada needs more homes to take care of her increasing population, and just at the time other cities of the state are resuming their building and improvement operations it is a source of much speculation as to why things are at a standstill here.

A recent government report shows that the United States as a whole is over three years behind with its building program, and the city of Ada is by no means an exception to the general rule.

During the past year Ada's neighboring city to the north, Shawnee, has erected scores of new homes and has imported carpenters and masons from all over the state to keep the work going, but for some reason no such progress has been made here.

What can be the reason for this condition? It is not because there is no demand for additional dwelling houses, for there is never a day goes by but a number of persons make the rounds looking for a suitable place in which to live.

It surely cannot be that anyone is under the impression that there is a possibility of the city dying, for it is a well known fact that no city in the state is better located or has more favorable prospects for commercial expansion than Ada.

Ada's Future Assured.
With better than the average in railroads and transportation facilities, with really more than her share of permanent industries, and more coming; with one of the state's best Normal schools, and as good public school advantages as can be found in Oklahoma; with substantial churches of all the leading denominations; with healthy location and climate, and an abundant supply of pure water which is the envy of most other cities of the state, with the very best of prospects for a large producing field, and surrounded by as good agricultural lands as its journey over the state, what man could doubt for a moment that Ada is here to stay?

Lumber Prices Will Increase.
The high cost of building material cannot be given as a reason now for delaying building, for anyone who has given the lumber question any study will verify the statement that the prices of lumber are now only 10 per cent above the price that obtained during pre-war days, and this 10 per cent increase is covered by the increase in freight rates on lumber.

Inasmuch as most of the big lumber mills of the country are shut down, and only the smaller mills running, all of the leading trade journals of the country are predicting an increase in the price of most grades of lumber within the next seven months.

Then why should Ada stand still, while most of the neighboring towns are resuming their natural growth which was retarded during the war?

Rents Are Too High.
There are a number of men in this city who work for a salary and pay as high as $60 a month house rent, some even paying as much as $75 and practically none paying less than $40. These men should have their families in homes of their own, and instead of paying out six hundred, seven hundred, or a thousand dollars each year for the rent of a house they will never own they could easily be applying that amount each year toward paying for a home of their own.

Money Plentiful Now.
If a lack of money with which to build has been one of the disagreeable factors during the past year, that reason need not hinder any longer, for it has just been announced by a responsible party that any person with a good record may borrow sufficient money to build a home without any great amount of trouble.

Cost of Building.
A dandy 5-room modern home can be built for something like

$2,400. Not over that amount for the lumber bill and the labor bill combined. If it should be necessary to borrow the entire amount and pay 10 per cent interest, the total charge each year would be only $240, while the rental on such a piece of property would not be less than $40 a month, or $480 per year, just two times the amount necessary to keep up the interest on the property at the very highest rate of interest allowed to be charged in the state of Oklahoma.

Few renters stop to think that $20 a month, for ten years, at 6 per cent interest compounded annually would amount to $3,353.28; that $40 paid for the same period at the same rate of interest amounts to $6,706.56; that $50 a month for a like period amounts to $8,383.20.

Many persons in Ada have paid high rent year in and year out for a long period to have paid for one of the best homes to be found in the city, but because they have delayed starting the work which they would like to start they still live in the other man's house which they have paid for.

Own Your Own Home.
Owning the home is much more pleasant than renting it, and is less expensive. No family can know the real joys of life until they own the home they live in. Home ownership lends a new dignity to life, it adds comfort and a certain degree of independence without which life is incomplete.

Caesar, in telling of his war against the Helvetians, explains that he first destroyed their homes and they then were easy prey. Caesar had learned that man doesn't usually think enough of a board of ing house to fight for it.

Get out of the boarding house class, the renting class, and get a home that you can call your very own one that you will be proud to fight for. BUILD A HOME!

GUNMEN STILL ACTIVE IN TULSA

One Man Stands Up Seven and Takes Their Money.

(By the Associated Press.)
TULSA, Dec. 28.—Gunmen continued their activities here last night, adding three holdups to the long list. A lone masked bandit entered a downtown taxicab stand and compelled seven men to line up along the wall while he relieved them of more than $50, the change in their pockets.

W. S. Kemp was robbed of $110 by three masked men while on his way home. A street car conductor was robbed of his watch, $30 of the company's money and the fare register.

And that experience is to go down in a submarine.

JOHN BARLEYCORN MAKES LAST STAND

Federal Officers Raid Open
Saloons at Hurley,
Wisconsin.

(By the Associated Press.)

HURLEY, Wis., Dec. 28.—More than half a hundred federal prohibition agents from Chicago surprised the thirty-five open saloons in Hurley this afternoon, making many arrests and seizing quantities of liquor of all sorts. The federal agents were armed but not a shot was fired during the first hour of the raid.

The raid followed a wild night here during which liquor had been sold at bargain rates, ranging from a cents for moonshine whisky to 75 cents for well known brands. Among those arrested were lumber jacks. Reports had reached prohibition enforcement headquarters at Chicago that dry agents would be shot down if they attempted to stop liquor traffic in Hurley. The liquor men, known as the "little saloon keepers," were kept up very quiet.

Residents said the larger dealers had concealed some stock. The raid was executed very rapidly, cleaning up most of the places in less than an hour.

(By the Associated Press.)
CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—The expedition to Hurley was ordered at the instance of Federal Judge Landis after reports had reached him that the alleged moonshiners had threatened to shoot any prohibition raiders who put in an appearance. More than a hundred places make or sell whisky or wine. Thirty-eight of them are saloons and the raiding party carried a warrant for the arrest of the proprietor of every one of these places. Other places said to be selling liquor were said to be pool halls, private stills and barber shops.

HURLEY, Dec. 28.—This logging camp town has been the center of anti-prohibition feeling for several months. The town is inhabited mainly by lumber jacks, many of whom are foreigners. The smouldering resentment toward prohibition broke into flame in a pitched battle here on October 9, when agents from prohibition headquarters in Chicago encountered bootleggers who lost contraband whisky estimated to be worth eighty-five thousand dollars. One man was killed in the fight and another was seriously wounded.

The whole district in this part of the north woods has been regarded by dry officials as a law defying community. Reports say that dance halls, saloons, gambling shops and bootlegging joints flourished practically in the open—each selling any kind of liquor obtainable, from moonshine whisky to Italian wine.

Opposition to an encroachment from the outside took definite form after the ambush in October. Friends of John Cadervel, the slain man, and saloon keeper of Hurley, organized to send out a deft, which said "that the first prohibition agent to show himself in Hurley would be shot." They swore, it was said, to keep Hurley "a man's town for real men."

Arthur Sallee of Frisco, was in the city yesterday looking after business interests.

HUSBAND, WIFE AND BABY PERISH IN FIRE AT ROFF

Husband Burns With Family in Trying to Save Them.

Rushing into his burning home to save his wife and baby from a horrible death, R. B. Nichols failed in his mission of love and perished with them in the fire which destroyed the Nichols home at Roff yesterday at 6 p. m. Two strong men tried to hold the father from the burning house but he overcame all resistance and when the fire had run its course the charred bodies of father, mother and baby told a mute and terrible story of their awful death.

Several persons were attracted to the Nichols home by the sound of an explosion and a burst of flame which followed it instantaneously, but before the nearest persons to the house could reach it the two-room wooden structure was aflame all over the inside and was burning fiercely.

It is thought that the fire started from an explosion which occurred when Mrs. Nichols poured oil from a five-gallon can on a small blaze in a wood stove. The husband, who was working near the house, noticed the fire and entered to save his family.

It is thought possible that gasoline instead of kerosene had been inadvertently placed in the oil can from which the oil was poured by Mrs. Nichols. The oil is said to have been obtained at a Roff store and was taken from a new tank of oil which is being tested.

The three bodies will be buried moved into the house the day before the fire occurred. They have lived at Roff about six months having moved there from Ahlston. Mr. Nichols was a day laborer and had worked at various jobs during the past six months.

His father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Nichols, and two brothers live at Roff.

There three bodies will be buried at the Roff cemetery this afternoon.

DAIRYING HAS GREAT FUTURE IN THIS STATE

(By the Associated Press.)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 28th.—The dairying industry in Oklahoma at present confined for the most part to the central, western, northwestern, northern and eastern parts of the state, has the greatest field for development in the southern and southeastern portions of Oklahoma, now almost neglected. J. A. Whitehurst, president of the state board of agriculture, said here today in a review of dairying conditions in the state, and the effect release of many acres of land in this area from tick quarantine would have on the dairying industry.

A map of the state indicates that dairying is a developed industry in all but the southern and southeastern portions of the state. The tick quarantine in this section has been responsible for this effect, Mr. Whitehurst said, dairymen not wishing to jeopardize good dairy stock by bringing them into tick infested areas. But since the federal government has lowered the quarantine line so that practically all of the southern and southeastern parts of the state are now free for development, the dairying industry should be advanced in this district, he said.

The southern and southeastern portions of the state offer the best grasslands for grazing purposes. Mr. Whitehurst continued, and because of the good rainfall and general climatic conditions it will make a profitable dairying country. Only three or four creamery stations and ice cream factories are now located in this area.

Carter county dairymen have taken the initiative since the quarantine line has been lowered so as to exclude that county and in company with C. P. Unwin, state dairy commissioner, a number of them are now in Wisconsin where they will purchase two car loads of pure bred dairy cattle. Mr. Unwin accompanied the Carter county dairymen for the purpose of advising and choosing good stock.

A similar move is on foot in other southeastern counties which have been relieved from the tick quarantine and with the aid of the state department every possible effort will be made to have the dairying industry firmly established in these two areas, Mr. Whitehurst concluded.

SIX ESCAPED CONVICTS
SURROUNDED ON ISLAND

(By the Associated Press.)

PINE BLUFF, Ark., Dec. 28.—Six of twelve prisoners who escaped from the state convict farm at Tucker, Sunday night, was reported surrounded on an island in the Arkansas river, near Pastoria, Arkansas, early today. Poses were preparing to cross to the island in an attempt to capture them. Two of the men were recaptured shortly after the escape was staged. There was no information as to the whereabouts of the other four.

PAUL, THE APOSTLE, SAID:—Godliness with contentment is great gain. For we brought nothing into this world, and it is certain we can carry nothing out. And having food and raiment, let us therewith be content. —1 TIMOTHY 6: 6, 7, 8.

CUT OUT THE LUXURIES.

The Daily Ardmoreite is unkind enough to intimate that if the corporation commission had the power it would raise the rates on fuel in hell. Following this line of thought the Tulsa World declares that the time has come when the rate fixing power should be taken from the corporation commission and vested in the courts of the state.

That the various high and low courts of Oklahoma should be given the power to raise or regulate rates in this state far be it from deponent to say. We are neither a lawyer nor a professional juror. But we submit in all sincerity that the taxpayers of Oklahoma should not be forced to pay out about $100,000 per annum to support an alleged court that works overtime in the interests of public service corporation and raises without hesitancy every rate known to sons of men. If such a court must needs be maintained, the expense of its maintenance should be borne by the corporations that get the benefits of its service.

Nor is our position based on the belief that the corporation commission is venal. Fairness requires the admission that for several years past the commission in the very nature of things has been forced to accommodate public service corporations. Every commodity was doubling up in price and it was impossible for corporation to survive unless they got a raise in rates. They appealed for this increase and the commission granted the increase. In spite of the howls of the professional corporation baiters it is nothing but fair and nothing but honest to treat all corporations with justice. Many of the increases granted corporations by the commission were properly granted.

But granting all that we still insist that if no one is to be favored but the corporations, they are the ones who should pay the bills. The people should not pay the salaries of men who levy fines on the people every morning before breakfast. The corporation commission should be abolished. It has outlived whatever day of usefulness it ever possessed and under present day conditions is the costliest joke endured by the people of Oklahoma. Whatever the legislature does this winter or fails to do, it should submit to the people of the state a constitutional amendment abolishing the corporation commission. There is no more reason for the people paying the up-keep of that body than there is for their paying the salaries of corporation attorneys and witnesses.

"THE BABES IN THE MUD."

You remember how it was when we were lads in school. All of us got knocked down and run over occasionally, but we refused to lie there. We got up and went on with the game. But now and then some pink-cheeked sissy got upset and it took the entire school to get him back on his feet. He persisted in lying in the mud and howling. He never amounted to very much in school and didn't rank as the most popular lad, not by any means.

We see that same soft-muscled cry-baby wherever we go nowadays. The latest piece of trouble to hit him is this financial spasm that some call a panic, but most of us know as "hard times." The great mass of the boys are playing the game as they learned to play it years ago on the school grounds. They have been knocked and rolled in the mud and don't like lads going into a tent to have their "picture taken." But they are not crying. They refuse to lie in the mud and call on the world and all its inhabitants to come to their assistance. They are up on their pegs again and are hitting the lines again just for the pure joy of the fight.

But these big cry babies! They never have moved a muscle except their vocal chords since the center rush went over them. They are lying amid the mud and derbis of the debacle and are out roaring the bull of Bashan. They seem to think that a busy world has nothing to do but listen to their howlings. They are down and out. They know they are down and out. They are determined in spite of hell and high water to stay down and out. And they are determined that every soul between earth and heaven shall hear their tale of woe.

ALWAYS SOMETHING NEW.

According to John Fields who knows all about such things there are two classes of farmers in Oklahoma that harm themselves and consequently harm the state. One is the non-progressive class who try to farm in Oklahoma just as their grandfathers farmed in Missouri or Texas sixty years ago. They never try new methods even when those methods have been shown to be most successful. The other class consists of those who are forever changing their methods and are continually abandoning plans that have proved successful to try some scheme that never has been a success.

There are in Oklahoma many farmers, says Mr. Fields, who quit every plan of farming as soon as they find it successful and begin trying some other plan. He says that it is no rare thing to find a farmer who has made good following an approved plan, abandoning that plan and taking up another plan that never has proved a success. He urges the necessity of farmers sticking to the plans that have proved a success.

If Senator Harding is able to reconcile the differences in opinion of Elihu Root and Mr. Bryan, he can easily silence the common charge that he is not an extraordinary statesman.

Charity Work During Christmas Reported To Be Great Success

The Red Cross Empty Stockings fund and the Elks club were able to bring joy and gladness to the hearts of many children and poor people of the city. Over thirty large baskets of food and one hundred and fifty-six pairs of stockings, and many toys were distributed among the poor residents of the city last Friday afternoon.

The baskets of food were furnished by the Elks Club and the stockings were furnished by the money donated to the Empty Stocking fund. With every basket of food a stocking was given filled with nuts, candy and fruits. Every child was given some kind of toy with his stocking and it is thought that very few were overlooked. This help was greatly appreciated by all who were visited, many not being able to express their gratitude, others thanking the distributors.

Final Arrangements Being Made for Poultry Show

The arrangements committee of the Pontotoc county branch of the State Poultry Federation have just finished mailing out the premium lists for the eighth annual show which is to be held at Ada January 13-14 and 15, 1921, and the final preparations are now being made for what the poultry men and women of this section look forward to as one of the best ever held in this county.

In addition to the regular prizes offered in the published list a boys and girls judging contest is being arranged to take place on the final day of the show. The following rules have been arranged for the direction of this auxiliary contest:

Rule 1.—Any boy or girl, resident of Pontotoc county, under 18 years of age, is eligible to enter the contest.

Rule 2.—Contestants will be required to judge five breeds, placing first, second and third in each breed.

Rule 3.—The following breeds will be judged: Wyandottes, Orpingtons, Rhode Island Reds, Plymouth Rocks and Leghorns.

Rule 4.—Schools may enter as many contestants as desired.

Prizes offered: First, $5.00; second, $4.40; third, $4.00; fourth, $3.50; fifth, $3.00; sixth, $2.50; seventh, $1.50; eighth, $1.00.

This contest will start at 10:00 o'clock Saturday morning, January 15, and is expected to be one of the most interesting of the contests of the entire show. Invitations have been sent to several persons of the county whom the committee think are apt to be interested in the contest sufficient to take part and a large number of contestants are expected to be on hand.

It is explained by the committee that it is not necessary for the contestant to belong to any of the county clubs to participate in the contest, as the matter is open to any one within the age limits established.

The "L. of J." Social.
The "L. of J." boys will hold a social-religious meeting tomorrow evening at the Christian church. To this evening's enjoyment are invited all boys that have ever been members of the "L. of J." In the past two years a great many boys of Ada have been some time or other members of this organization. Mr. Dunn, the minister of the Christian church, and leader of the "L. of J.", is planning this meeting with the boys as it may be his last chance to be with them. He is anxious for every boy who has ever been a member of the "L. of J." and now living in Ada to be present tomorrow evening. The parents and other members of the family and the friends of these boys are all invited. It is expected that there will be a large number present. A good program is being prepared. There will be speeches, music, songs and refreshments. The meeting will begin at 7:30 o'clock.

EXTREME DESCRIBES THIS FASHION SUIT

This striking American fashion is developed along new lines which delightfully accentuate the figure. It is of biscuit colored broadcloth with bandings of nutria on collar, cuffs and bottom of the skirt, and even on the brim of the brown velvet hat there is a bit of the fur. The novel collar and tucked panel mark the coat as unusual. In fact, "extreme" is the only word which can describe styles like this.

Church News

Presbyterian Church.
The pastor will hold the prayer meeting Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock.

This will be the last meeting of the year and it is important that all members be present. Matters of special interest demand the presence of all.

Each and every elder and deacon is especially requested to be present. Everybody invited.—N. P. Patterson, pastor.

First Baptist Prayer Meeting.
Wednesday evening will be held the mid-week prayer meeting of the First Baptist church, beginning promptly at 7 o'clock.

Brother Henry Landers will lead the meeting and it is hoped that a large crowd will be present. Following the prayer meeting, the choir will hold its rehearsal and Prof. Hill will be in charge.

J. B. and W. B. Gay were in Oklahoma City yesterday attending to business matters.

The Lions club held a most interesting meeting today, the same being the date of regular meeting and luncheon. The new president of the club, C. V. Gowing, was inducted into office amid applause, and in a few well chosen remarks thanked the club for the honor bestowed and pledged faithful performance of duty throughout the year to come.

The feature of the program after the luncheon was an address by Rev. C. C. Morris, pastor of the First Baptist church, on the subject, "The Lions Club as a Medium of Service."

Mr. Morris said that the keynote of the age is service. That business and professional men should look upon their business or profession as an opportunity to render service to their fellows. The Master of life was quoted as having said, "He who would be great among you shall be the servant of all." "So the Lions club," said Mr. Morris, "affords a medium through which business can express itself, but one through which the moral forces can express themselves. It should be an organization with a soul."

A goodly number of the members were present and all spent a most enjoyable and profitable hour.

GOES TO EGYPT TO GET GOATS

Will Consider Labor Conditions and Price Schedules 4 States Represented.

(By the Associated Press)
PHILADELPHIA—Despite the terrors through which he passed while journeying through the wilds of South America, Dr. Alexander Hamilton Rice, explorer, plans soon to leave for Egypt in an endeavor to locate a certain species of goat which is invaluable in medical research work.

He expressed this intention in an address on South America before the Geographical society here.

Dr. Rice said his trip through South America took him up the Rio Negro, the largest tributary of the Amazon, through a natural canal more than 200 miles long connecting it with the Orinoco, into hitherto unexplored portions of Brazil. It was here that he came in actual contact with Guaharibos, a virtually unknown tribe of Cannibal Indians, who for seven days pursued his party in an effort to cut off their return.

The attack occurred in a wild spot along the banks of the Orinoco where Dr. Rice had made camp the night before. Two of his Indian guides had gone up the river in a canoe to test the depth of the water, when they saw something moving along the banks. Looking closer, they perceived the forms of Indians closing in on the camp, and hastily turning about, hurried back to warn the remainder of the party.

"A few moments after the guides'

WHEAT GROWERS GET TOGETHER

Will Hold Grain Off the Market for Right Prices.

(By the Associated Press)
WICHITA, Kan., Dec. 28.—The Wheat Growers Association of America, which has been conducting a campaign to induce growers to withhold their wheat from the market until prices are higher plans to have midwestern states so well organized within the next six months that the growers will be able to control the price paid for the 1921 wheat crop, according to W. H. McGreevy, secretary and treasurer.

The association now has a membership of approximately 100,000 in the state of Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas and Nebraska, according to Mr. McGreevy, who has his headquarters here. The organization will be extended, he said, to Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota.

"The purpose of the National Wheat Growers Association is to control the distribution and marketing of wheat through financial and selling agencies of its own selection at a price based upon cost, plus a fair and reasonable profit," said Secretary McGreevy.

"Not only the wheat growers of our association but the wheat growers in general are refusing to sell any wheat at present prices except in cases where financial conditions force the sale. For more than thirty days we have withheld our wheat from the market until now a large number of flour mills are idle and the local and terminal elevators are nearly empty. The wheat grower feels that he has practically accomplished what seemed at first impossible, and is now encouraged to continue withholding his wheat from market in order that a price which is fair and just shall be paid him for his labor and money invested."

Mr. McGreevy objects to the use of the term "wheat strike" in referring to the action of the wheat growers.

"Our growers are not striking as is commonly meant by the term," he said. "We are still sowing and attending to the many arduous duties of the farm. We are only holding our wheat to be marketed at any time the producer may think it at a fair price."

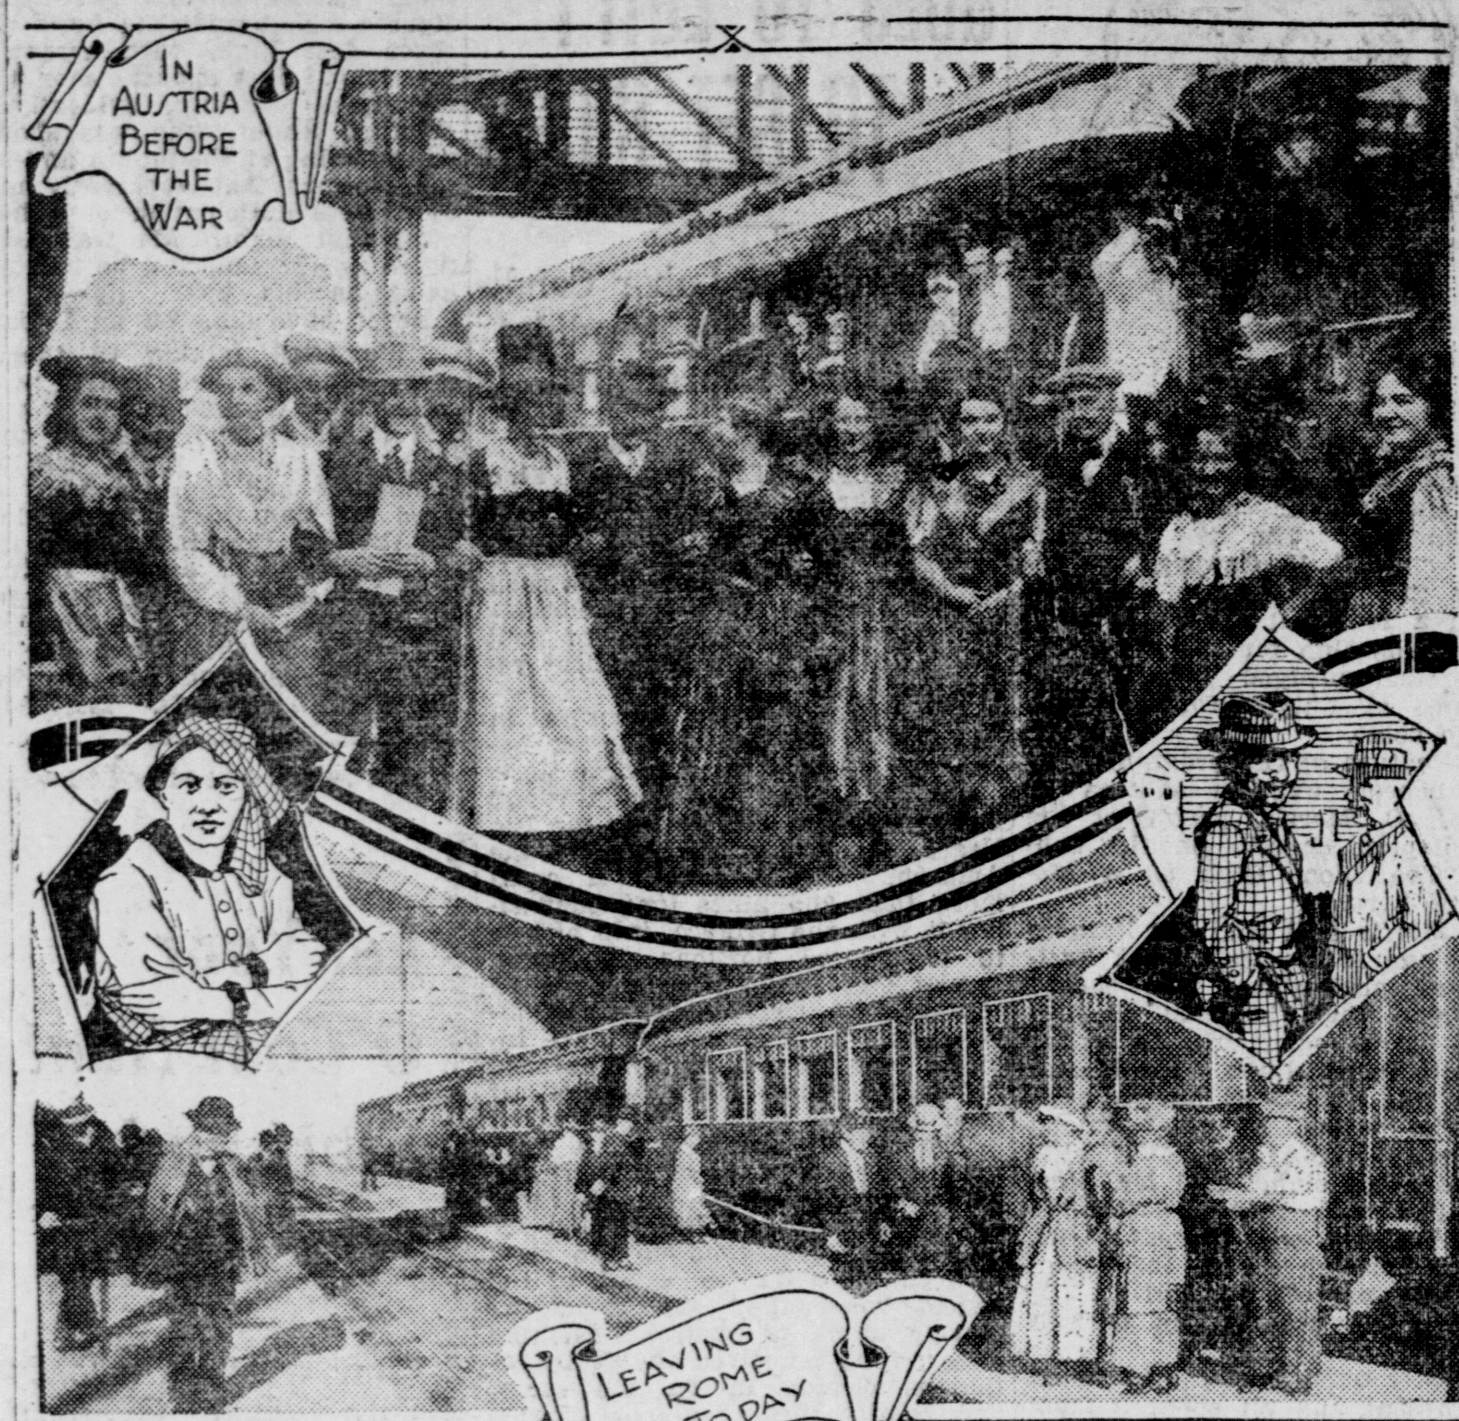

The organization was formed about a year and a half ago in southern Kansas and northern Oklahoma. Mr. A. Slaughter of Manchester, Okla., was the originator and early promoter. According to its promoters its growth in the first six months was slow but in the last few months it has been rapid until the membership has spread to every wheat growing county in the four states organized.

The four states now organized, (Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas) in which a membership of 100,000 is claimed have 220,500 wheat growers, according to Kansas Board of Agriculture statistics. Forty-five per cent of growers are members of the association, according to this. Mr. McGreevy's statement is that about forty per cent of growers in the wheat sections of the states now organized as members.

The four states produced this year 232,955,000 bushels out of the total for United States of 750,648,000 bushels.

The addition of Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota would bring the production up to 359,003,000 bushels, or slightly less

CANADIAN CARS, ONCE "PRISONERS OF WAR" IN AUSTRIA, NOW RUNNING ON THE ITALIAN STATE RAILWAY SYSTEM

Recently an American traveller in Rome, Italy, rubbed his eyes in amazement as he saw before him a train of palatial observation cars of the type not usually seen in Europe though familiar to transcontinental travellers in the United States and Canada. It was not an optical illusion, for the cars are actually running on the Italian railways. Before the war these cars were operated by the Canadian Pacific Railway on the express trains from Arlberg to Vienna and from Innsbruck to Trieste, where they were not only a decided novelty, but were extremely popular as well, particularly with American tourists visiting the Tyrol.

Promptly upon the outbreak of hostilities, the cars were seized by the Austrian War Office which used them as Red Cross cars. When peace was restored they were returned to the Canadian railway. Naturally tourist travel in Austria has disappeared for the time being, but Italy, which has a very enterprising railway system, has been in better shape for the reception of visitors, and the Italian government made an offer for the cars which was accepted.

They were operated for the first time on the Italian State Railways for the transportation through Italy of delegates of the National Council of Women of the United States who were proceeding from Naples via Rome, Florence, Venice, Milan and Geneva to the International Feminist Meeting in Christiania, Norway. As a result the delegates had the same comfort and luxurious equipment they were accustomed to on the best railways in Canada and the United States, travelling conditions unequalled in any other country in Europe.

These observation cars are now used for touring travel between Ventimille, Genoa, Florence, Rome and Naples.

Early had cars been available, but that wheat is being held mainly in hopes of such an upturn in price as will return a profit—an exercise of business judgment which should be as free from criticism or excite no more comment than the action of a haberdasher who declines to sell hats costing $10 for which his customer offers $5.

Major Geo. W. Littlefield, pioneer Texan, died in Austin, November 9. Major Littlefield was well known throughout Texas for his interest in education. Besides giving to the University of Texas the magnificent Wren Library, he had also donated various sums of money to the University for educational purposes. For many years he was one of the university regents.

Sixty-one undesirable aliens, traveling in two special cars heavily guarded by immigrant officials, arrived in New York City recently from Chicago and the far west, to await orders of deportation.

CATTLE TURNED ON OKMULGEE COUNTY COTTON

(By the Associated Press.)
OKMULGEE, Dec. 28.—Between 40 and 50 per cent of Okmulgee county's 1920 cotton crop has been abandoned and cattle have been turned into the fields, according to D. P. Trent, county farm agent. At the present high wage of cotton pickers and low market, farmers declare that it is cheaper to let the cotton stay in the fields than it would be to pick the crop.

Few farmers, Mr. Trent says, are holding their crop for higher prices, because the majority of them are forced to sell on the present low market to meet their obligations. The agent said there are no warehouses in the county for the storing of the crop until the market recovers.

Cotton in the seed is selling here at about $2.70, Mr. Trent said, and the farmers are forced to pay $2 a hundred to pickers. With this estimate farmers can not make more than 25 cents a hundred on this year's crop, he declared, which does not include expenses incidental to harvesting.

DEAR PETEY:

Bet you a house and lot you'd stay in W-S a month if you ever got to know folks here like I have. Between business and Reynolds factories and a bully time—well my date book has been bubbling over! And, I'm still running into facts that would stagger even your imagination, old football, with all your kick!

Pete, take it straight from government figures direct to you, that every work day in the week R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. buys from our "Uncle Sam" enough revenue stamps to pay for a duplicate of the handsome new Winston-Salem post office building! Ever hear of such a thing?

And, if you want to get an eyefull of an army of more than 15,000 people, be down in the Reynolds factory district when the whistles blow! Never saw such a cigarette firing-up time in my life!

Peter, everytime you light a Camel in the future, call back on what I've slipped you about Camels—absolutely, the greatest cigarette at any price—for quality, for refreshing flavor, for mellow mild body, for freedom from any unpleasant cigarette aftertaste or odor! It's worth the busiest smoker's time to compare Camels with any cigarette in the world! Camels are simply a revelation! You know that.

I'll open my eyes in Atlanta tomorrow! In the meantime here's a wad of best wishes I have in stock!

PLAY GREAT SUCCESS PEG STAR OF EVENING

(Fifth Day of Story "When the Boys and Girls Meet")

At last the night of the play came. Every girl in Bradley High was there, and so far as Peg could tell, every boy too.

"Girls," she exclaimed, "Every seat is taken. Just look through this hole, Fran!"

The curtain rose and the first act began. Out in front among the boys was heard,

"Gee, this is great fellows," and "how did those girls ever do it?"

As the play proceeded, the fellows became more enthusiastic and pretty soon Shock nudged Tub and whispered,

"Say, doesn't Peg look great? Isn't she pretty tonight? Wonder why I never thought she was good looking before?"

"She sure is a stunner tonight," whispered back Tub.

"You want to watch me ask her for a date for the Senior party next week," said Tub.

"Well, just remember, I'm going to take her to the next game," answered Shock, "that is, if it's all right with her, and if we ever have another game."

Peg certainly did her part well. She was not thinking about how beautiful she looked, but rather about how much money would be in the bag after the play was over.

With great clapping and cheering, the play came to an end. When the girls had taken off their costumes and put on their wraps Peg looked the happiest and gayest of all. Why shouldn't she? Her plan had succeeded and now the team could finish out the season.

As she was leaving the building, Shock stopped her.

"Peg, you sure look mighty happy."

"Of course, I'm happy and why shouldn't I be? We girls—but then you just wait until assembly time tomorrow and you'll be happy too."

The Forum Smashed

"The Forum has gone to smash," says "The Boys' and Girls' Union," Atlantic City, N. J.

In this incident is a suggestion and a warning worthy of heed by high schools elsewhere.

The Atlantic City Forum was a literary and debating society. Its downfall came when its faculty adviser resigned, for without a faculty member no such society is allowed to exist in Atlantic City schools.

Failure to do the kind of work for which it was organized, and the selection of new members from favoritism instead of merit were the main charges.

Similar charges might be lodged against such society in many other cities. They are the two commonest dangers.

It is well to keep a literary society what it is supposed to be.

BOYHOOD STORIES OF FAMOUS MEN

JAMES J. HILL

"Come on fellows, let's pull straws and see who gets to be leader."

"No we won't either," shouted the biggest boy in the crowd!

"Don't you know that Jimmy will be leader? Hasn't he got a sore eye?"

A bandaged eye and a stubbed toe were marks of distinction in the village of Rockwood, Ontario.

So Jimmy Hill was made leader. He was just nine years old, and was a brave boy; the fellows all liked him.

The week before, one of his school mates had accidentally shot an arrow into his eye and put it out.

But James J. Hill (1838-1916) saw more with one eye than most men see with two. He was a railway president who directed and controlled the Great Northern Railway, the Northern Pacific, and the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy.

OKLAHOMA COTTON GROWERS ARE STUNG

OKLAHOMA CITY, December—

(Special)—Oklahoma farmers were receiving 4 cents per pound less for their cotton the first of this month than the average price paid throughout the United States, according to figures of the federal bureau of crop estimates.

The average for the entire country on that date was 14 cents per pound while Oklahoma farmers received but 10.5 cents average.

Surrounding states were receiving more than Oklahoma. The Arkansas average was 13.3 cents; Tennessee, 13 cents and Texas, 13.2 cents. Oklahoma's production was estimated at 1,300,000 bales.

"The above figures indicate that the scaling end of the Oklahoma cotton farmer's business is mighty sick," says C. L. Stealey, secretary of the Oklahoma Cotton Growers' Association, with headquarters at 414 Empire Building, Oklahoma City.

"And right there is where this Association takes a hand. By pooling their cotton by grade, class and staple, storing it in their own warehouses and hiring the best available marketing expert to find a market for their crop, members of the Oklahoma Cotton Growers' Association are going to very considerably raise the average price received for Oklahoma's cotton crop as it will be announced in the 1922 and succeeding reports.

"Organization is progressing rapidly in all counties in which we have been able to carry our message. It is only a question of letting the folks know about the plan."

JOBS BECOMING SCARCE IN CITY

Six Applications Made at Red Cross Headquarters
Yesterday for Work.

Jobs in the city are becoming scarce, especially jobs for unskilled labor, as is evidenced by the many applications which have been made to the Red Cross headquarters the past few weeks. Only yesterday there were six applications made by men and a few women who were out of a job and could not find work of any kind. Since the shutting down of some of the factories in the city, work has gradually become less, and the employees are forced out of a job. There are many factories which are only working part of the time and none are working full force. The building work and other outside work has been shut off the past two weeks on account of the bad weather.

Mrs. Orville Sneed, who has charge of the Red Cross office here, states that she has been able in most cases to find employment for the applicants, but that she has not been able to find any kind of work in the past week. She also stated that it had been more easily to obtain work for women than men but the sources for this employment are now shut off.

There are many men in the city with families who are not earning any money and sooner or later something will have to be done about it. It is also believed that most of the robberies and other like crimes committed are caused by the lack of other more fair means of obtaining the necessities of life.

However, most of the residents of the city have good positions and are able to live comfortably.

McSwain.

No doubt you have already heard what kind of a show "The American Beauties" company presented last evening at the McSwain theatre. Clean, refined and nothing but high class vaudeville acts. You'll like it fine. Ask some one's opinion of it who was there last evening.

Marguerite Clark is the star in a new Paramount Arctura screen comedy, "Easy to Get," which will be the attraction at the McSwain theatre today.

Miss Clark has the role of a bride, Milly Morehouse. She and her husband, Bob, are in a Pullman coach just starting on their honeymoon. Bob leaves his bride for a moment and she follows him into the smoker in time to hear him remark to his friend, Dick Elliott, whom he chanced to meet, that all women are "easy to get." This is good news to Dick, who has been courting a girl unsuccessfully for three years. But it is a sad admission for Bob. Milly becomes indignant and jumps off the train at the next station. She is followed by Bob, whom she gives a merry chase, culminating in her kidnapping by a gang of thieves. Bob has to pay them $5,000 ransom before he can secure the return of his bride.

Harrison Ford is leading man for Miss Clark and gives a characteristic droll humorous performance. Others in the cast are Rodney LaRouque, Helen Greene, Herbert Barrington, Kid Broad, H. Van Bausen and Julia Hurley. The picture was adapted by Julia Crawford Ivers from a story by Mann Page and Izola Forrester. It was directed by Walter Edwards and is a Paramount Arctura picture.

It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.

Sweet Clover in Pontotoc County

By ROBERT F. WILBORN, ADA, OKLA.

I know of no subject that should be of more importance to the farmer of today in this great crisis of low prices of farm products, than the subject of sweet clover. I should, therefore, be pleased to give to the readers of your valuable paper my experience with the growing of sweet clover for the last few years, and leave it to the reader to decide whether or not it would pay to have a few acres on every farm seeded to sweet clover for Nineteen Hundred Twenty-one.

By observation and by reading on the subject, in the beginning, I concluded the better variety of clover to grow would be the biennial white bloom variety. I secured seed of this variety and seeded a plot of about two acres. I had read and had been told that the best way to prepare the seed bed was not to prepare it at all but merely sow the seed on the hard ground in the winter and trust to providence to produce the clover. I pursued this course. Providence failed me and so did the clover.

The next step was to try preparing a decent seed bed. I did this in the same way as I would prepare a seed bed for alfalfa. I broke the land in early fall and allowed it to take the fall and winter rains. In early February the ground was thoroughly harrowed, the seed was sown and covered about one inch deep by harrowing with a spring tooth harrow.

Dry weather followed, the seed sprouted and the greater part of them died for lack of moisture. I did not do as I know others have done, plough up what was left for fear of losing a crop on the land for the year, but I watched with intense interest in the hope that I would get a seed crop, enough to reseed the land the following year.

During the summer, fall and winter scarcely any clover could be seen. When the early spring began to appear, and as the sun began to war in the earth, you could see here and there a small leaf of clover appear. As the earth grew warmer more clover could be seen, until at last not more than three bunches of clover to the square yard could be found. This was allowed to grow. The spring rains came, the clover grew, branched and rebranched, until by the fifteenth of June the clover would hide a horse on any part of the plot, it being much higher than a horse's back.

Wanting to get a seed crop the clover was not pastured. About the first week in July the clover was cut and bound with an ordinary grain binder, shocked, allowed to dry and later threshed with a small grain separator. From the plot about four hundred fifty pounds of seed was secured. A total expense of $15.00 was incurred in harvesting and threshing. The seed was sold at 20 cents per pound, leaving a profit of $75.00 for the seed, enough seed left on the ground to reseed and about three tons of the hay from which the seed was threshed.

The next year (1919) more land was seeded until I now have 40% of my farm growing clover.

The land seeded in March, 1919, was sown broadcast by hand and upon the same day the same land was sown to spring barley. The clover and barley being covered the same by harrowing, having been sown on fresh, broken ground. The rain came. Both grew. When the barley was cut and bound in June, about six inches was cut from the top of the clover, thus cutting the clover about six inches from the ground. The clover grew in abundance and made a wonderful pasture until the freezes in the early winter came.

In February, 1920, twelve acres was seeded in the same way as with the barley the preceding year. The clover was sown in the place of barley, with the same results, securing a good stand and abundance of pasture after harvesting the oats.

In the summer of this year the seed crop on five acres of the 1919 sowing was cut from which we threshed eight hundred pounds of seed to the acre. The seed are now selling at 20 cents per pound.

In preparing this for a seed crop the entire field was gone over and all yellow blooms pulled up, there being only a few, thus leaving my seed crop 100% white bloom seed. I exhibited a sample of these seed at the Pontotoc County Oklahoma Free fair in September and won the blue ribbon, first prize. No other shows were entered with these seed until at the Grain and Hay show, held by the Board of Trade of Chicago, in connection with the International Live Stock show at Chicago, November 27th to December 4th. In this show I won the white ribbon, $15.00 premium, this being third place in competition with the whole of the U. S. and the Dominion of Canada.

I regard the seed crop of secondary importance. First in importance is its value as a forage; second, as a soil builder and third as a seed crop. All kinds of live stock do well on sweet clover, and the abundance of the growth makes it possible to feed more stock than any other crop I have ever been able to grow on my farm. I have never found any thing to equal it for the production of money. Bees quit almost every thing else and feed on the clover while in bloom. This year I secured more than one hundred pounds of honey from three colonies of bees and only robbed them one time. A neighbor of mine I a mtd, sold more than $600.00 worth of honey from his bees this season. The quality of sweet clover honey is not surpassed.

As a soil builder we would like to say that we find that the root growth will penetrate the earth to a depth equal to one-half the length of the top growth. The root growth rots every two years, thus leaving the soil loosened to great depth and also leaving it filled with deposits of plant food from the decay of the vegetable matter of the root growth.

At the experiment station of Illinois it was found that land which had been seeded to sweet clover with

GET THE LISTENING HABIT

It is recounted that on occasion a certain wise man was asked the first rule of getting along in the world of people. The answer came back "be a good listener."

In these days of modern newspapers reading corresponds to listening. In the news columns are the printed views and opinions of the foremost men and women of our day—leaders in thought and action. To be well informed, you read what they have to say, just as you would listen if they were speaking to you.

In the advertising columns, you have the opportunity to "listen" to messages that are even closer and more vital to your everyday life. Your own townspeople, as well as men and women from all over the world are telling you their stories. For your benefit.

There's an endless array of articles from which you can choose. The choice is simple if you're a good listener—the more you listen the more you know and the better able to buy.
